Three Ways To Make Fried Chicken

By Katharine Fisher Director, Good Housekeeping Institute

The fried-chicken season is here! The supply of fryers—fresh and quick-frozen—is usually at its best at this time of the year.

All recipes tested by Good Housekeeping Institute Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

Pan-Fried Chicken With Flour or Corn-Meal Coating:

- 1. Buy fryers (1 1/2 to 2 1/2 lbs. each) split lengthwise, quartered, or cut up as for fricassee. Roasting chickens may be pan-fried if first simmered tender after cutting up.

WITH EGG AND CRUMB COATING:

- 1. To 1 c. sifted, dried bread crumbs or cracker crumbs, add 1 tsp. salt. Beat 1 egg with 2 tsp. cold water.

Oven-Fried Chicken

Here's a method that is especially convenient when several chickens are to be fried, since it cuts down on the turning and watching necessary when chicken is fried in a skillet.

- 1. Coat, and fry cut-up chicken in a skillet to a golden brown on all sides, as we do in Pan-Fried Chicken.

Deep-Fried Chicken

- 1. Dip cut-up fryers in egg and crumbs (see Pan-Fried Chicken) or in following batter: Stir 1 beaten egg and 3/4 c. milk into 1 c. sifted all-purpose flour with 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. pepper.
